Detail

The course proposed is a half day or full day in duration and as well as a classroom based comprehensive briefing on adverse weather driving also covers practical On Road adverse weather training.

On arrival delegates have the all-important safety & training briefing for the day, this is also an opportunity for the delegates to offer any specific concerns relating to their general driving or any of the course content.

Setting the scene for any training course is of paramount importance and this particular briefing will cover preparation for winter driving, journey planning, suggested equipment to be carried, tyre type & checks and finally 'is the journey necessary.'

Practical Training

On Road – Adverse Weather

This practical session sees the trainees guided through how a vehicle can be driven safely in snow & icy conditions, but it also highlights to the trainee the limitations & potential hazards of a standard road vehicle in these conditions.

Many drivers approach adverse weather driving by using a 'standard' driving technique. Our fully qualified trainers will introduce factors to consider for driving in adverse weather which will give the trainees the skills required to do this safely. By using a different driving style and the vehicle's technology, the trainee will be able to drive more confidently and safely in adverse conditions. By being able to recognize the potential for problems and identifying risky situations earlier and by identifying places where ice may be, the driver will have the skills to deal with all weather conditions.
