Detail

The Transport Manager CPC for both Road Haulage & Passenger Transport is a nationally recognised qualification for those looking to work as a Transport Manager under a Standard National or International Operator Licence.

There are three options for gaining the CPC qualification:

Option 1 – Intensive classroom study

A 10-day intensive classroom course is the most effective method for obtaining the Transport Manager CPC qualification. Our experienced tutors will guide you through the syllabus, with plenty of practice of practice exercises to ensure understanding.

The syllabus covers a wide range of subjects from setting up a business, managing financial and legal arrangements and employing staff through to managing drivers' hours and records and international transport.

Part of our role as a training provider is to not only ensure you understand the syllabus fully, but you are also prepared for the final exams.

Exams are held quarterly, and our classroom courses run the two weeks leading into the exam. Our classroom pass rate is on average 70% each quarter.

Option 2 – Distance Learning

One of the drawbacks of attending a classroom course is time out of your business or work, we created a solution – the Distance Learning Package

The distance learning CPC course is an effective compromise between home study and classroom learning.

The Distance Learning CPC study option is suitable for both Road Haulage & Passenger Transport operations.

With this package, you get the flexibility of home study and the help and support of a dedicated tutor. Your tutor will provide guidance, feedback and answer any questions you may have on the subject, having two days of classroom revision really brings this course together. During the session we will revise the entire syllabus and prepare you fully for the final exam.

What do you get with the package?

- ✓ The same course material that is used in our successful classroom courses (kept up to date should any changes need to be made)
- ✓ Study guide
- ✓ Stage tests
- ✓ Case study exercises
- ✓ A structured plan and timescale for learning
- ✓ A tutor to mark your completed stage tests and case studies
- ✓ Feedback, advice and guidance from the tutor
- ✓ 2 days free classroom revision time (mock exams, tests and exam preparation). Revision sessions are held two days prior to your chosen exam date. Revision is usually held at our RED Training Centre at Donington Park
- ✓ All exam fees included.

We will continue to offer support and material updates for two exam periods (6 months)

Distance learning is more cost effective than a classroom course but will require a significant level of self-motivation.

Is the Transport Manager CPC Course Easy?

Often one of the first questions we are asked, and the short answer is, no.

The Transport Manager CPC syllabus covers a wide range of subjects ranging from Drivers' hours to business taxation. To have the greatest possible chance of passing the Transport Manager CPC you need to choose a training provider with the experience, the facilities, and the teaching ability to provide support and learning required to pass the Transport Manager CPC qualification.

We do not guarantee a pass, that is impossible! We do promise to prepare you well, giving you the knowledge and strategies to enter the exam with confidence in your abilities.

Classroom courses run Monday to Friday over the two-week period, usual start time is 08:00 - 16:30.

Course material will be sent out once payment has been received (minimum 3 weeks prior to the course start).

Refreshments & lunch are provided throughout the duration of the classroom course.

Exams are held on the last day of the classroom course usually at our RED Training Centre, we do also occasionally use an overflow exam centre nearby.

Maintaining Our Pass Rates

Our pass rates are consistently high, delegates pay significant amounts of money and put their trust in our abilities. Every effort is taken to ensure that delegates are given the best possible chance to pass their CPC exams first time.

We maintain this high standard by:

Course Material

Our course material is reviewed every two months, delegates need to be studying correct and up to date material.

Delegate to Tutor Ratio

We keep our class sizes small to allow each delegate ample opportunity for 1 to 1 tutor time.

Room Format

Instead of the usual "U" shape we have adapted our classrooms to reflect the various skills & experiences of the delegates introducing team orientated learning, all delegates benefit from the collective experience in the class.

Exam Preparation

Learning and understanding the syllabus is, of course, important but having the strategies & processes to transfer that knowledge onto the exam paper is equally important. We will teach you how to PASS the exam.
